Brief Setters:

Miranda Stearn, Jennie Thornber and Niki Hughes, University of Cambridge Museums.

Miranda leads the Learning Department at the Fitzwilliam Museum, Niki is the Opening Doors Project Coordinator, and Jennie is the Learning Associate for Widening Participation and Strategic Schools.

Together, the eight University of Cambridge Museums and Botanic Garden represent the UK's highest concentration of internationally important collections outside London. With more than five million works of art, artefacts, and specimens, the collections have supported nearly 300 years of investigation into the world around us.

Brief Title:

Planning a new exhibition using our collections.

The Museums would like to set the challenge of planning a new exhibition using our collections. This will involve choosing a selection of exciting objects to exhibit, as well as a theme and title for the exhibition.

Those who accept the challenge will also write short labels for their chosen objects and may wish to consider the design of their exhibition.
